Statutory Declaration

Important instructions on using this form
A statutory declaration is a legally binding document which may be used in legal proceedings in New Zealand under the Oaths and Declarations Act 1957. The declaration must be taken in front of an authorised person to confirm to us that what has been declared is true and correct.

The purpose of the declaration is to allow you to attest that you are the person to whom certain qualifications have been awarded, where there are variations in the way that your name / identity has been recorded across these key documents. Council requires that you make a declaration in terms of every document where that document is different when compared to your names on your passport. This must be done irrespective of the nature of the name variation (including initials used instead of the name written out, names transposed, etc).
